Kennel Sharing

Two dogs sharing a kennel must be from the same family. Dogs with a history of aggression when eating or sharing beds, toys, treats, or attention cannot share a kennel. If a dog is showing signs of aggression, irritation, or discomfort while sharing a kennel the dogs will be separated into private kennels at an additional cost. The owner is fully responsible for any injury or death as a result of sharing a kennel. The owner is fully responsible for veterinary fees and/or damage to the property as a result of sharing a kennel.

Vaccinations and Flea/Tick Preventatives

Rabies, Distemper, and Bordetella are required vaccines. Proof of up-to-date vaccinations is due prior to drop off. Deposits and reservations are forfeit if proof of vaccinations is not provided at time of drop off. We recommend contacting your veterinarians office and requesting proof of vaccinations be emailed darlasbedandbiscuit@gmail.com in advance.

Bordetella is a vaccine that helps protect against kennel cough. Kennel cough is a highly contagious pathogen than can affect your dog even when vaccinated. Common signs of kennel cough are coughing, spitting up phlegm, and/or nasal discharge. We will not accept dogs who come in with any of these signs. If your dog starts to show any of the signs of kennel cough they will be quarantined and will need to be picked up immediately.

Year-round flea and tick preventative is highly recommended. Your dog must be flea and tick free. If your dog is observed to have fleas a medicated bath treatment will be given and your dog will be isolated at an additional cost.
